CUIDAR offers a free 10-week program that is intended to improve your parenting skills while getting to know other parents in your community. During the parenting group you are invited to bring your potty-trained, preschool-aged child to the social skills program that helps children learn to play with other children in various group settings.

*CUIDAR is a collaborative project with the University of California, Irvine and Children's Hospital of Orange County & is funded by a grant through the Children's and Families Committee of Orange County.
