Young geographers can learn the answer to that question in The Scrambled States of America (Henry Holt) by Laurie Keller. This clever story, starring all 50 states, is chock-full of introductory facts and humor. Young readers can identify their favorite states by color, size, and shape. Learning about geography has never been as easy or funny! Born in a tree and raised by bees, Crinkleroot is the perfect nature guide. In Crinkleroot's Nature Almanac by Jim Arnosky (Simon &amp; Schuster), children will learn to identify different types of wildflowers in springtime, find a beaver dam in the summer, locate owls in the fall, and spot rabbit tracks in winter. Hidden puzzles in the art and simple activities, such as building a birdhouse and creating an autumn leaf book, promise hours of fun, even in your own backyard! Other book-tivities: http://www.educationworld.com/a_books/sr_week06.shtml	For an extra treasure box prize, write about or draw a picture from a book you read this month on the back of this calendar.
