

Chapter One

On the Job

The person we interviewed is Mrs. Linda Pape. The title of her job is a second grade teacher. Mrs. Pape has many important duties. The three most important are: she teaches the children to read better, write better, and learn to solve harder math problems. Her favorite part of the job is when children discover something new or accomplish something they didn't think they could do. Her least favorite part of the job is when a child won't try.

Mrs. Pape helps our community by teaching the children important new skills. Mrs. Pape also makes our community a better place by helping the students learn that they are an important part of our world.

Chapter Two

Learning to Become a Teacher

To do her job, Mrs. Pape had to go to college for four years and an extra year for her teacher's credential. She got her training at the Ohio State University and UCI. Mrs. Pape earned an undergraduate degree and a teacher's credential. She earned the Teacher of the Year Award in the 2000.

Mrs. Pape's high school health teacher helped to inspire her to become a teacher. If Mrs. Pape has problems or questions with her job, she asks Ms. Howell, Mrs. McDermott, or Ms. Bagwell for help.

Chapter Three

All About Mrs. Pape When She Isn't at Work

There are many activities Mrs. Pape enjoys when she is not working. For example, her favorite sports are football and basketball. Her favorite types of books and movies are mysteries, comedies, and anything with a happy ending. Mrs. Pape also has fun being with her family and friends, playing with her grandson Logan, going to the beach, gardening, and reading. She has fun whether she is working or playing.
